I lost my phone the other day, and it was returned within a few hours because of the Return Me stickers on the back of my phone.

Lost my key while out walking the dogs in a park. I was pretty sure I had thrown it in the trash bin with the doggie doo doo but decided to check the website to see how it all works and reported the lost key. Somehow my id # wasn't registered and I got a call about it from a very nice polite guy and after I explained my situation he said he would register it just in case. Well wouldn't you know it the next day I got e-mail and text from Adam after they tried to get a hold of me by phone, saying that someone found it! I was able to contact the finder right away and met him to get the key. The key wasn't so important as I had a spare and was able to copy but the special thing was the sentimental key chain that I have had for a very long time which is now in safe keeping!
